

Training for Newspaper Work.

The recent meeting at the University of Wisconsin of teachers of Journalism from all over the country, signifies that this form of preparation for newspaper work is getting larger support than anticipated. While the experiment was regarded in a friendly way in newspaper offices, there was a feeling that the only way to learn reporting and editing is simply to get a job as a reporter or editor, and try yourself out.

A well conducted newspaper, great or small, is an exceedingly useful school. It is so discriminating, so severe in its intellectual demands, that a constant procession of men are always being rejected as unfit. Usually they lack the persistent, determined industry which the newspaper game calls for. In other cases they simply haven't the mental acuteness that enables them to know a news story at sight.

These changes keep a staff constantly in motion and a fellow of real ability soon gets ahead. But it might be many years before he could get a chance to act as an editorial executive, as a political correspondent, as an art or dramatic critic or editorial writer, if his tastes and talents lay in one of the directions.

If the metropolitan paper has a vacancy to fill in one of these higher positions, it is much more apt to look to a man who has made a success in such work on some other paper, than the fellow who has not been thoroughly broken in on its own staff. Here is where the school of journalism training should prove valuable. It ought to be a short cut to one of the higher positions, doing away with long years of routine work.

But let no bearer of a journalism school degree imagine that he can skip the stage of actual reporting on some newspaper. No training on earth gives so much insight into human nature, and there is no substitute for it inside of school walls.

Can You Doubt It?

When the Proof Can Be so Easily Investigated.

When so many grateful citizens of this locality testify to benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, can you doubt the evidence? The proof is not far away—it is almost at your door. Read what a resident of Williamsburg, says about Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you demand more convincing testimony?

L. L. Pence, Attorney, Williamsburg, Ky., says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills worthy of the highest praise. We have used them for years and gladly confirm the endorsement I gave them several years ago. I had kidney trouble for a number of years and being given a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them. They made a marked improvement. I can say that they are good for weak back and kidneys." If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills. The same that Mr. Pence had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50-cent bottles. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## Making Gifts to Men

What a raft of superfluous track used to be given to men for Christmas presents! The traditional gifts at Christmas donation parties to the minister were slippers, often in heaps, constituting a slipper reservoir for life. But at least slippers were useful, even those with tops of flowered brussels. Not so much could be said for many other gifts, which the men were supposed to receive with jubilant faces.

Our favorite present was a calendar with the days of the week and month stamped in succession on ribbon running through slots. They had to be pulled down every day, or the girl who gave it said you no longer thought of her. Probably few of them were kept up to date later than February 1st.

The penwiper, still in favor with womenkind, used to be a favorite gift to business men. The modern office man comes from Spottlesdown, and no more wipes his pen on his coat sleeve, and is too sanitary to lick his pen with his tongue, but the penwiper seems to have gone the way of tail coats in the business office.

As for paper weights, blotting pads, and other trinkets, the banks and insurance companies litter the business desk with this rubbish in the form of advertising.

At home, few men care for much frippery around their bureau drawers. Burnt wood collar, shirt, and stud boxes, china trays, embroidered laundry bags, leather traveling cases, all these have some use, yet three are given where one is needed and enjoyed.

Any man welcomes and prizes a gift made from real friendship. But if you want him to value the thing for its own sake, and not to chuck it out of sight at the first opportunity, you must study his tastes and daily habits with some care.
